HPNA still believes 11 Dana Ave. not as-of-right

Residents say they still do not believe 11 Dana Ave. to be as-of-right, despite assurances from the BPDA.

Jeff Sullivan
Staff Reporter

The Hyde Park Neighborhood Association (HPNA) met last week and the main topic of conversation, as it has been for the last few months, was the project proposed for 11 Dana Ave.

The group voted last month to have the 24-unit mixed-use proposal appealed at its last meeting and sent letters to that effect to local officials in the city and the State House. The crux of the issue, according to HPNA President Jim Kirker and member Craig Martin, is that the developer and the Boston Planning and Development Agency (BPDA) believe the project to be in one of the two Neighborhood Shopping NS-2 Subdistricts.

Martin said he believes the development to be in an NS-2 district that requires two parking spaces per unit, and that the separate district is noted in the BPDA's maps. According to the developer and the BPDA's representatives, only one parking space is required per unit, which the site plan provides for.

Martin said he's not neces-

East River Street NA talks stop signs and spring cleaning

The East River Street Neighborhood Association hosted their monthly meeting on Monday, March 6 at 912 River Street. Office of Neighborhood Services Hyde Park liaison Bryan Flynn and a representative from Councilor McCarthy's office were present at the meeting.

The meeting opened with Officer Broderick reading the past month for the River Street area. The report included zero robberies, three breaking and enterings, and a report of a wallet being stolen from a woman's purse at Price-Rite. Police also recovered a vehicle that was stolen from Dedham.

Liaison Bryan Flynn discussed Boston's "Love Your Block" program, which includes mini-grants and neighborhood clean-ups. Mini-grant submissions for 2019 were due on March 1st, and Flynn remarked that Roslindale had the most submissions. In Spring of 2018, Boston received over 60 applications across the city for mini grants and awarded five groups. One Love Your Block project example is a wall painting next to the Mildred Avenue Community Center in Mattapan. In 2017, local community organizations painted a wall next to the community center to make the dark, uninviting place a painted work of

Bavis Tournament brings in hundreds to remember friend

Hundreds of players, parents and residents came out for the 17th annual Mark Bavis Tournament in Hyde Park.

Former Hyde Park resident and Hyde Park Youth Hockey player Mark Bavis died on Sept. 11, 2001 on United Flight 175.

Bavis was a renowned player with three Beanpot titles under his belt playing for Boston University, but he first laced up his skates at the Bajko Rink in Hyde Park, and now dozens of Mite teams from the Greater Boston Area come together to honor his memory at that same rink every year and over this past weekend.

"This is the 17th year of the tournament since it started in 2003," said organizer Jay Rourke. "It was decided in 2002 that it would be a great way to remember Mark and his real impact on the program when he was younger... He was a player for Hyde Park Youth Hockey and so people don't forget where it all started, so we host the tournament. Pat Bavis and the family have been phe-

Council looks at use of public ways, 5K's and street fairs

Jeff Sullivan
Staff Reporter

The Boston City Council held a hearing last week to discuss rules and regulations regarding public, private and nonprofit uses of public ways in the city.

The problem comes, according to District 8 City Councilor Josh Zakim, as an increase in events which make use of public land or rights of way (block parties, road races or parades) makes some areas of the city inaccessible too many times for residents to reasonably adjust their schedules.

“There’s been a proliferation of fundraisers, walks, parades – some political in nature which obviously no one could have predicted after 2016,” he said.

Zakim said he wants to know the framework of approval for these types of events and how residents are notified. He said he wanted to focus on how new events that residents of the area might not be aware of are approved and advertised, if at all.

Neighborhood Association of the Back Bay (NABB) member Elliot Laffer said the disruption in the Back Bay can be a serious problem if you live there and have necessary chores or errands to do. He said the lack of notice on some of the smaller and less well-known events can also create unnecessary problems in his neighborhood.

“When you have them for what seems like almost every weekend, for people who need the weekends to do errands they can’t do during the week it can be very challenging,” he said. “I remember I was coming home one evening when there was one of these 5K road races and I had to sit a block from my house for an hour waiting for the street to clear and I didn’t even know it was coming, and I’m usually very informed about this sort of thing.”

Laffer said there is a need for more of these events to be evenly distributed around the city and not just in the Back Bay.

“While we’re a beautiful neighborhood, we’re not the only beautiful neighborhood,” he said.

Boston Mayor’s Office of Tourism, Sports and Entertainment Director Kenneth Brissette said during the hearing that permits approved by the Public Event Committee (PEC) are required for any event seeking to use public land owned by the city, including roads.

“Whether that event is free or not, open to the public or invitation only, it doesn’t matter,” he said. “It is still necessary to apply.”

He said in 2018 the PEC

District 8 City Councilor Josh Zakim oversaw the permitting of 568 public events in the City of Boston.

“That’s throughout the entire city,” he said. “In 2017, the PEC oversaw the permitting of 545 public events throughout the City of Boston.”

Brissette said his office guides applicants through the process but does not issue any permits. He said various public institutions, like the Boston Transportation Department (BTD), the Boston Police Department (BPD) the Boston Fire Department (BFD) or the Boston Public Works Department (BPW) must approve these permits.

Brissette said the PEC also takes a look at the upcoming schedule to make sure there are not too many events scheduled in a brief period of time. He said that list is on hand any time someone makes an application.

“When we come to a meeting, we have an Excel spreadsheet of all events that are happening in the city, whether it’s the Red Sox, the Celtics, the Bruins, any concerts at the Garden, any concerts at Fenway, all Parks events and anything that we do,” he said.

Brissette said that they actually put a hold on new events after Sept. 15 because they already have too much going on.

“So we monitor that and we figure out whether a particular race is feasible,” he said. “Since 2014, we have not added any new additional events on Comm. Ave. with the exception of a few one-offs that we did.”

Zakim said notification can be an issue. He said the updates the BTD puts out for traffic advisories is useful, but he’s concerned that it’s usually the first notification he sees for a particular event in District 8. He said he’d like to see more cooperation with the Office of Neighborhood Services so these events could be included in the office’s weekly newsletters as well as a notification system for all the neighborhood associations in each particular area. Brissette said this was something he would look into.

Chief Engineer for the BTD Edward Hesford said for any street closure, there is always a plan in place.

“The BTD, well we’re always formulating the traffic management plans and the operational plans for a safe event, in coordination with the BPD, BPF, EMS, etc., so we have a nice working committee in special events,” he said. “There’s a lot of thought that gets put in with this, the whole team puts together that plan relative to roadway detours, impacts, etc., that potentially could come about and we want to keep the city open and viable.”

Brissette said the application process is different for every type of event, but it always includes a site plan for the area designated for the event, insurance for any event on public property, designs for any temporary structures and review by all relevant departments before permits are issued.

He said once they have all those permits they need, they will go to licensing for final approval for an entertainment license or a special event license. He said for a road race, BTD Commissioner Gina Fiandaca has to sign off on the idea of the event even before any permits are applied for.

Boston Parks and Recreation Director Chris Cook said in 2018, 4,084 permits were issued by the department, and that 1,351 were for adult athletics, 991 were for youth athletics, 194 were for weddings and 17 were closings related to construction and renovations of the parks. He did point out that each permit was not necessarily tied to one event, like a little league could pull one permit for use of a field for a full season.

BUY YOUR WAY IN

The scandal du jour, and one that has Boston sharing the national spotlight, is a pay-for-placement scheme that allowed the rich and famous (emphasis on the former) to cut ahead of other students for consideration at prestigious colleges and universities.

Among the 50 people accused of the crime are actresses Felicity Huffman and Lori Loughlin, and fashion designer Mossimo Giannulli. They, and others, paid between $200,000 and $6.5 million to secure admissions for their kids. Among the schools targeted by the perpetrators and a Boston-based for-profit college counseling firm were Yale, Stanford, and Georgetown. Among the feats of trickery used were fabricating top-tier athleticism (via the magic of Photoshop) to entice coaches and athletic directors and hiring “proctors” to take entrance exams for the would-be students.

In a sad world of war and political divisiveness, Colleaguegate (ok, we just made up that nickname) is the perfect, gossip-worthy story to come along: it has shallow, cheating celebrities; millions of dollars; and a reason to rage about unfair systems that have it in for “the little guy.”

We do need to ask, however, why these crimes are a reason for all that aforementioned “rage”?

Let’s think this through: wealthy parents open up their bank account to ensure that their sub-academic offspring can attend college. How is that any different from standard operating procedure?

College is a business. Like all businesses, despite protestations of self-importance and attestations of societal improvements, these institutions exist to make money. Like any company in a capitalistic world, these schools are in a near-constant state of expansion, and

Is this any way to run a city?

- $684,000
- $677,000
- $577,000
- $536,000
- $494,000

Staggering numbers, right?

They’re even more staggering when one realizes that these are the 2018 salaries of the top money-makers receiving and then endorsing City of Boston paychecks. They are all police officers, who were reinstated and allowed to collect back pay, probably due to the kindness of mediators who enjoy reinstating “wronged” employees. Also, last year there were two salaries of other police officers netting more than $250,000 each.

I wonder if any of these recipients will have to redeem cans for nickels or cut coupons from newspapers. Nah, not a chance.

If such people are being reinstated by benevolent arbitrators, perhaps more scrutiny should be given as to why they were laid off in the first place:

were the offenses egregious or only seemingly so? Or maybe review the qualifications of the arbitrators.

If the city treasury had no control of these payments, it could have exercised more control of the buy-out of the former school superintendent’s contract, which netted Tommy Chang a whopping $450,000. And was there any oversight of a fire department employee’s netting $260,000 and a building inspector’s pulling in $10,000 less?

To those of us on fixed incomes, those struggling on Medicaid, those grimacing at having to throw an extra quarter in a parking meter for another 4 minutes, or those pining for an extra dollar for a tip when serving meals, the above people, in effect, had hit the lottery jackpot but, regrettably, at our expense: they’re making money off our backs, as our rising real estate taxes and rents reflect the city’s reluctance and/or inability to rein in expenses. But if they worked for Fidelity, Gillette, State Street

My Kind of Town/
Joe Galeota

Trust, and other private companies, more power to them; we would have no basis to begrudge their salaries, outside of pure envy.

Last year the city’s payroll was $1.7 billion, a huge 8.2% increase of $129 million over the preceding year. Ah, would that there be a plethora of municipal belt-tightening, indeed a lost art in these days when the city coffers are open for grabbing.

PROGRESSIVES AND PLASTIC BAGS

cerning the plastic bag ban. Let me challenge the “progressives” on the City Council and in the neighborhood: Ban John Henry’s plastic bags as well.

Purim Events at Beth Shalom of The Blue Hills

The festive Jewish holiday of Purim will be celebrated at Congregation Beth Shalom of the Blue Hills this year with two special events in March.

On Sunday, March 17th, the synagogue's Rabbi Weistrop Religious School will sponsor its Annual Purim Carnival from 11:00 – 12:30 at the synagogue at 18 Shoolman Way in Milton. The Purim Carnival will feature games, booths, prizes, raffles, food and fun for all ages, and prizes for costumes. It is open to the entire community with free admission, and tickets for booths and snacks will be available for purchase. Everyone is welcome, especially costumed children, who can participate in the costume parade and win prizes.

On Wednesday evening, March 20th, the synagogue will hold a Community Purim Celebration & Passover Wine Tasting, starting at 6:15 p.m. for parents with children. The kids can enjoy pizza and veggies while their parents taste Passover wines along with cheese and crackers, all free if RSVP'd by Sun. March 17th. At 6:45, everyone may participate in Mask Making, Costume Parade, Purim story, songs, prizes and Hamantashen.

At 7:00 p.m. adults without children can join in Passover wine tasting with cheese and crackers, followed by a full Megillah reading and Hamantashen. The public is invited and costumes are encouraged for everyone.

The Megillah mentioned above tells the Purim story of Esther and her uncle Mordecai, who saved their Jewish brethren in ancient Shushan from the evil designs of the wicked Haman. Children and adults wear costumes and listen carefully to the Hebrew text so they can use noisemakers to drown out the name of Haman every time it is uttered.

Cong. Beth Shalom of the Blue Hills conducts a full schedule of religious, cultural, educational and social events and services throughout the year. It also operates a religious school for Jewish children of all grade levels. It is located at 18 Shoolman Way (off Lodge Street) in Milton. There is limited parking at the synagogue, with overflow parking on nearby Pleasant Street. There is no parking allowed on Lodge or Maitland Streets. For further information about Purim or other temple activities, call the temple office at 617-698-3394, email: office@BethShalomBlueHills.org, or visit www.BethShalomBlueHills.org.

sarily opposed to the project, but he does believe more meetings with the community are required and he wants to see the proposal presented to the residents in the right way.

“We’re trying to have it presented right so that we can have a discussion,” he said. “They’re at a complete advantage coming in and saying it’s as-of-right, and we don’t have any negotiating power.”

Martin said he wants to let residents have a say in the proposal, and that he himself is not opposed to compromise.

“We might say 1.5 cars per unit, that’s a legitimate option, but we don’t even have the ability to have a discussion here and they laugh us off because they have it as as-of-right,” he said. “I mean suppose they came to this group and said ‘we want to build this but we can’t do two cars per unit, we don’t have the space.’ If we say, ‘we like what you’re doing and we appreciate you coming and working with us,’ then it’s possible to override the zoning laws because that’s what the neighborhood wants.”

Mayor’s Office of Neighborhood Services Hyde Park Representative Bryan Flynn said Boston Mayor Marty Walsh is apprised of the situation and has not yet decided on a course of action, but he said he does not believe the proposal is as-of-right, according to Martin’s maps.

“I am with you on that, this needs to be addressed, definitely in terms of the parking,” he said. “I don’t think it’s as-of-right, I think the maps you showed illustrate that plain and simple.”

Kirker also pointed out that calling the proposal mixed-use is kind of a cop out in his opinion. The proposal calls for 300 square feet of office space, which makes it a mixed-use development and allowable under NS-2 zoning.

“These zoning things were done so we could bring commercial space into various areas,” he said. “Everybody wants commercial space, except as developers tell us, it’s impossible to rent these things... Nobody really wants to build commercial space, but this was the whole idea behind these zoning changes. If you build commercial space, then the city will allow you to have more parking space, more density, etc. It seems the primary objective, the prime directive of these developers is no longer commercial, it’s residential.”

Flynn said whenever he hears an update on the position of the Mayor’s Office he will inform the HPNA.

In other news, the HPNA

Residents said they want the BPDA to come back and present the project as they believe it should be, with zoning variances, so they can have a fair playing field in negotiating with the developers.

voted to send a letter to the BPDA regarding a recent community meeting centered around new zoning that would allow new units to be created in spaces of existing buildings. The new units would essentially carve up an existing unit, most likely in the basement, to create more units while keeping the envelope of the building the same. Kirker said he was upset about the lack of notification for the meeting and the group voted unanimously to ask the BPDA to hold more.

“(District 5 City Councilor Tim) McCarthy was upset with the BPDA about that, as was I, I didn’t know about that meeting,” said Flynn. “They do have a bad habit of scheduling meetings five days before they happen, if that.”

Flynn said he was concerned about the issue, since in his experience fires have a high tendency to start with electrical problems in the basement. As if to exemplify this, Boston Police Department District E-18 Public Safety Officer Paul Broderick said there was one such fire on Feb. 20 at 42 Dana Ave. in the electrical box in the basement. The HPNA voted to send a letter stating the desire for another community meeting to the Deputy Director for Regulatory Planning and Zoning Bryan Glasscock and BPDA Director Brian Golden to this effect.

Kirker also mentioned the need for ideas to fundraise for the group to help refill its coffers.

nomenal to the program and they were always involved. Everyone kicks in and makes it work.”

The Hyde Park Youth Hockey League and the Bavis Foundation set up the tournament every year. Rourke said the tournament consists of four games per player of three versus three hockey.

“The kids love it, the parents love it and even all the grandparents attend,” he said. “There’s been a bunch of different leaders before me in the program, so everyone helps keep it going. We’re coming up on 20 years of the tournament now and almost 20 years since the attacks on 9/11 took place; it’s just hard to believe.”

Rourke said despite the somber origins of the tournament, everyone has a real good time, which he thinks is what Bavis would have wanted.

“It’s the last big event of the season and there’s probably 500 to 600 people in the rink throughout the day,” said. “The kids have a great time and it’s something to remember.”

Rourke said the work to prepare for the tournament is difficult, but very worth it.

“It was awesome, myself and all the volunteers were there at 5:30 in the morning setting up and we didn’t get out of there until four in the afternoon,” he said. “We had 20 teams from a dozen different neighborhoods in metro Boston, two full days in the rink and we had the fire pits going and grilled breakfast sandwiches too. The lines were out the door and the sounds of country music were blasting out of the rink.”

Rourke said the Hyde Park team plays especially hard for the tournament, since they’re hosting it, but he said that doesn’t mean the other teams don’t play hard.

“Hyde Park made it all the way to the semis, but they lost in overtime to Norwood,” he said. “It ended with Dedham winning the championship. I mean there were a few tears in the kids eyes when we were leaving, but we got them ice cream and they forgot all about it.”

Rourke said it takes a lot of funds to make the league and the tournament happen, so they fundraise quite a bit, culminating in a fall golf tournament.

“We kind of go out and start the fundraising in may June or July and hopefully revenue comes in the summer months and our bank is ready and prepared to start paying for our ice time,” he said. “We spend $100,000 a year to pay for the ice, and put our teams in leagues, each team is around $14,000 to put them in a league. The Bavis foundation is fantastic to us and we work incredibly well together ad they are just the greatest people. They totally get it they understand what it’s all about – it’s about getting these kids a great experience.”

Saturday, March 9, 2019 - Hyde Park Youth Basketball Association Report.

Congratulations to the Craig Curran Division champion Raptors, who completed an undefeated season with an exciting victory over a valiant Duke squad. In the Ray Foley Division, the 3-Pointers and the Cowboys advanced to the championship game, to be held on Saturday, March 16th at New Mission High School.

Curran Division Results

Curran South All-Stars 28 - 26 Curran North All-Stars

(March 5, 2019) What an incredible All-Star Game this was to watch. Sixteen of the best players in the league played and they all showed us why they deserved to be in this game. The North All-Stars were in control of the game for most of it, led by Hijjah Allen-Paisley and Kamari Perry both of the Raptors who scored 11 and 7 points respectively. They were aided by the defensive efforts of Armani Andujar and Carlos Feliciano of the 3-Pointers and Jeremy Araujo of the Raptors. The North All-Stars looked like they had the game all wrapped up until the last 2 minutes of the game. For the South All-Stars it was Chandler Frederick and Destynee Everett of Duke scoring 9 and 6 points that kept the offensive pace of the game. They were assisted by the playmaking abilities of the three All-Stars from the Sonics Amir Mollineau, Oscar Torres, and Shamiliah Bodden who scored a combined 9 points themselves. The game however came down to two very important plays. Keyona Raines of Duke make two crucial free throws for the South All-Stars in the last 30 seconds of the game, and with less than five seconds remaining, Oscar Torres of the Sonics was able to time up the ball, creating a jump ball leading to the South All-Stars getting the inbound on the possession arrow sealing the deal for the win.

Championship Game

Raptors 37 - Duke 30

As was the case throughout the season with this match-up, the score does not accurately reflect the hard work and drive put in by these athletes. The Raptors went out to a big lead early being up by 12 points a few times during the game. They were led offensively by Hijjah Allen-Paisley who scored a season high 23 points in this game. She was supported offensively by the rebounding put-backs of Kamari Perry who scored 8 points. Defensively for the Raptors it was Feliciano Tavares and Deandre Figueroa keeping a tight lock on the top of the arc forcing Duke to take many long shots in the first half. However, in the second half, Duke came out to play. At one point they had the score down to a two point deficit. This was due to teamwork and players moving off of the ball. Seven of the eight players for Duke scored points in the game. Chandler Frederick led the scoring with 8 points followed closely by Mackenley Pierre and Keyona Raines each scoring 6 points. On the defensive side it was blocks by Keyona, Chandler and Mackenley as well as two amazing steals by Alyssa DeJesus that kept the Raptors away from the hoop. Unfortunately for the Duke team, the Raptors pushed the ball and sped their game up making it difficult for a tired squad to keep up. This was an amazing game to watch and an outstanding way to end out season in the Curran Division.

Foley Division Results

Due to the snow storm that shuttered all city of Boston schools, the Foley Division delayed its playoff semi-finals until today.

3-Pointers 56 – Sixers 52

After spotting their opponents an early double digit lead, the 3-Pointers raced to their own big lead, almost lost it, and hung on for a hard earned victory. Timmy Trotman was a steady force on offense, pouring in 16 points. Pierre Fortune (15) hit some big threes to pace a 21-0 run to close out the first half, Sebastian McCuller (15) was also effective from distance and Adler Lara (10) was a force on the glass. Freddy Johnson completed the scoring and moved the ball smartly, while Baron Langston impressed with his hustle at both ends of the court. Kahrie Langham (19) led all scorers, and with Jay Jackson (18) almost brought his team back late before coming up just short. Juan Gonzalez (10) was effective in the paint, while Henry Melkonian contributed a big three point bucket for the Sixers. As usual Malachi Bodden led the defensive effort, getting help from brother Nate Bodden (2) and Jovan Arroyo, but it was not quite enough on this day.

Cowboys 41 – Riot Squad 38

Led by a big second half push and Devon Marshall's 26 points the Cowboys wore down the Riot Squad to squeak out a berth in the championship game. Jaiden Weathersby (7), Chris Martinez (6) and Marvin Egbon (2) had strong games at both ends for the victors, getting support from Isaiah Figueroa, Kervins Charles, David Aguillar, Corey Cunniff and Dominic Diaz. Behind the point guard play of Max Velez, the Riot Squad played a perfect first half, establishing a 13 point lead and spreading around the scoring as they used double teams to prevent the Cowboy's Marshall from getting to the rim. Even as the lead shrunk in the second half, they held on until the final two minutes before falling behind. A big 3-point hoop by Pearce Edouard (6) reestablished the lead with a minute to go, but the Cowboys were relentless. All seven players scored for the Squad: Robert Gant (8), Jovanny Martinez (7), Jameer Wallace (5), Max Velez (4), Mike Williams (4) and Justin Eloq (4).

2019 Mitsubishi Mirage G4 SE

Mitsubishi has been around for many years and in the early years, the vehicles were not good. Today's Mitsubishi cars and SUVs are excellent in every way. I spent this week in a 2019 Mirage 3-cylinder, four-door sedan. This is a front drive, 1.2 liter, 78 horsepower, 3-cylinder engine car with electric assist power steering and a CVT automatic transmission. Surprising to me is that 78 horsepower moves the car right along, even with four adults inside. The car has a lot of standard features, including heated front seats – my favorite in the cold winter months. Push-to-start is also standard, as is fast entry steering hub controls, power windows, and a lot more. The exterior design is smooth – no sharp, crazy body lines – and vision is good from any angle. The car is quiet and smooth over broken pavement. However, there is the sound and feel of the 3-cylinder engine. This is no speed racer, but there is ample power from a stop or getting on the highway. Gas mileage is rated at 35 city and 41 highway, with 37 MPG combined. Not bad for a compact sedan. The car is built and assembled in Thailand. Warranty is 10 year/100,000 mile power train, 5 year/60,000 new car warranty, with 5 year roadside assistance. All this for a base price of $17,435 (destination fee: $895). Base price for the ES manual transmission is $14,645 for a brand new car, and this is before any discounts and special incentives are factored in.

Boston's own Junior Damato, "The Auto Doctor" has agreed to field auto repair questions from Bulletin and Record readers. Please forward your questions to news@bulletinnewspapers.com and we will do our best to get your questions answered.

this growth requires revenue. Tuitions keep spiking and assorted fees keep multiplying. For larger schools, even those with generous financial aid packages, endowments total in the tens-of-billions of dollars.

We can illustrate our point simply. A wealthy family wants their academically ungifted kid to go to their alma mater, so they hype their status as a “legacy,” capped off with a large donation for a library wing, planetarium, science lab, etc. That prospective student will son have an admission’s letter in their mailbox, and the whole process is both legal and common among rich folks (see: Bush and Trump).

Yes, the whole admissions process is a scam from the get-go. If you don’t hail from wealthy stock, then start dribbling a basketball. The other express lane to most schools is to excel at a sport (be it football, baseball, basketball, field hockey, golf or synchronized swimming) and be willing to earn the institution notoriety and money while you toil under NCAA rules.

As for the testing that leads to the admissions process, it too is Big Business. Heck, we wouldn’t be surprised if there were kickbacks from the #2 pencil people to muscle out the #3 competition.

Yes, there is something noble about higher education, but don’t for a second lose sight of the mountains of cash made from issuing sheepskins and tasseled hats. No colleges seem to have knowledge or involvement with the pay-to-play admissions process that is at the heart of the recent controversy, but their legal business plans are not really that much different.

After this is done, the “progressives” can work on banning plastic straws, plastic water bottles, the internal combustion engine, the single family home, and liberty.
